MARKET UPDATE

SMC Liquid index increased by 0.53% in February. The Indonesian stock market was relatively stable in February 2023 following the regional indexes. Global investors are still indecisive due to worrisome that the Fed might raise further the benchmark rate. That happened after the release of US economic data was not in line with expectations. In the US, the employment market is still tight and PCE, the Fed's favorable inflation indicator, is higher than the market forecast. The global narrative has changed that the Fed is unlikely to cut the benchmark rate this year because the rate will be held longer at its peak until the economy reaches stability. However, if we look at the domestic economic condition, it is indisputable that Indonesia is in good shape. The state budget surplus in early the year 2023 due to jumping state revenue, especially VAT is a confirmation that the economy is running well after the government put the covid restriction policy behind at the end of 2022. Bank Indonesia hold the benchmark rate at 5.75% in February 2023 due to a stable exchange rate. Many companies released their full-year financial reports. Additionally, the companies announced handsome dividend payout, especially coal companies, banks and conglomerates. This will impact positively overall stock performance in the coming months. The top contributors SMC Liquid index: Indocement Tunggal Prakarsa/INTP (+11.25%), Bukit Asam/PTBA (+13.53%), Mitra Adiperkasa/MAPI (+16.15%), BFI Finance Indonesia/BFIN (+18.18%) and Indosat (+15.19%), while top detractors: Bank Jago/ARTO (-30.28%), Medco Energi Internasional/MEDC (-17.56%), Bukalapak/BUKA (-9.66%), XL Axiata/EXCL (-9.13%) and Indah Kiat Pulp & Paper/INKP (-4.80%).
