MARKET UPDATE

Indonesia's bond market recorded positive performance in May 2026. Based on the government bond indices, INDOBex posted positive monthly returns of +0.36% MoM (compared to +0.62% MoM in April 2026). Domestically, the market responded negatively to the result of the Bank Indonesia (BI) meeting on May-26. BI gave a surprise by raising the interest rate by 50bps to 5.25%. This policy is to maintain the stabilization of Rupiah from the impact of high volatility of the war in the Middle East and a pre-emptive step to maintain inflation. Amidst the growing negative sentiment, positive sentiment came from the controlled release of the monthly state budget deficit and the release of domestic economic data that is still resilient. From a fiscal perspective, the monthly state budget realization release shows a positive trend along with the strengthening from the revenue side and efficiency policy from the expenditure side. The monthly state budget deficit narrowed to -0.6% of GDP in Apr-26 (vs -0.9% of GDP in Mar-26). In May 2026, BI middle rate depreciated 2.61% to 17,789/USD.
